KF 2010

Cork remains an eco-friendly vegan leather option of quality. It offers the advantage of recovering only the bark of the tree without damaging the plant. Leather-cork has all the qualities of the conventional material, with a highly aesthetic and modern appearance. A flexible, hypoallergenic and durable material.

A group of researchers from the Center for Forestry Studies of the Higher Institute of Agronomy in Lisbon has demonstrated that one hectare of cork oak forest captures (traps) 14.7 tonnes of CO₂ per year.

A material that does not release solvents or hazardous compounds, does not pose a risk to human health and is fully recyclable.
